WHITE DREAMS
2025

An aerial photograph of a rugged, layered rock formation, possibly a canyon or a natural rock arch. The rock is a mix of light tan and dark brown colors, showing distinct horizontal and vertical textures. A large, dark, irregular opening is visible in the center of the formation. The lighting creates strong shadows, emphasizing the depth and texture of the rock.
